

Mission Statement

- We will grow and move forward through loyalty to each other, honesty, reliance on God, active advertising through multiple mediums, and word of mouth. The proof will be in our pudding.
- We teach protection of self and others, and survival of catastrophes. We teach true to life scenarios that will or could happen, as realistically as possible. We do not approach this by relating to sport, rules, or referees that create a false sense of security and victory. We acknowledge that in the real world, there are none of these and often combat involves an intent to kill you or loved ones and survival is not a game.
- We acknowledge that in the event of a catastrophe that disrupts society as a whole, our ability to survive rests solely on our own shoulders and that our basic needs can no longer easily be purchased, but must be procured through skill and hard work, above those of our neighbour.
- We are different than other martial arts organizations because as God as our head, He guides us and empowers us and all our moral and ethical decisions are dictated by what He has taught us.
- We are different because we do not want to simply be martial artists. We want to reach out into society with our skill to grow and affect the world in which we live, both actively and passively.
- We will grow as a family as we approach our vision.
- We do this for God, for our family, for ourselves, for our friends, and for the stranger, in that order.
- We will benefit by emerging from a conflict or disaster alive and unscathed where others will fail.
- Being loving is the most powerful thing we can be.
- This organization's primary stakeholder is you, the life student. Even a teacher is a student.
- The responsibility of this organization to you is to stand by you through unwavering loyalty and to do whatever it takes to help you learn and understand the material by whatever means necessary.